What kind of literature can you find in the Library?

Due to the task of the Library to provide literature and information to all members of the University, the three local Libraries provide media for the different study subjects of the University:

- Engineering
- Applied Logistics and Polymer Sciences
- Building and Design
- Business Administration
- Computer Sciences and Microsystems Technology

The variety of our media contains books, journals, loose leaf collection, CDs or DVDs. Most of them can be borrowed.

The Hochschule Kaiserslautern's University Library is constantly expanding its collection of digital books containing the subjects: information technology, life sciences, business and economics and engineering.

The eBooks are available in pdf and can be viewed for personal use or for teaching and research. They can be saved, copied and printed. It is possible to read the eBooks from your PC at home via VPN-client.

Literature which is not located in the University Library can be ordered via inter-library loan. Users can search in "digibib" for the wanted media and order directly from another library. To use the inter-library loan, it is necessary to buy transaction numbers (TANs) in the University Library. The media will be delivered to the chosen Campus Library and can be collected there.

Where can you find the desired literature?

Our online catalog allows you to search the media stock of all Campus Libraries and see whether the desired book is available or borrowed.

Our electronic resources are linked in our online catalog (OPAC) and also in our eBook online catalog (eOPAC).

How can you become an user?

The registration for a Library Card is possible directly in the Library. Please bring your student id card (CampusCard), it serves as Library Card and can be activated by the Library Staff. You can use your Library Card at all of our Campus Libraries.

Extern users can get a Library Card for a fee if they want to lend books. They need to bring their identity card.

About media lending

We inform you about using terms, lending periods, extensions, reservations, delay fees and many other things at the Library.

If you wish to view your account and extend a loan, you will need your Library membership number or your CampusCard (the number starting with 500) and your password.
